

THE FAMILY OF RAMSTEIN BEERS

Founded in 1996, the High Point Brewing Company is America's premier brewer of German-style Ales and Lagers.

The founder and driving force of High Point is Greg Zaccardi, an award-winning brewer who trained and brewed professionally in southern Germany. After immersing himself in German brewing culture and technique, Greg returned to the US to open High Point Brewing Company.

His Ramstein beers are brewed with the same care and precision that Greg learned in Germany. In fact, the malt, hops and yeast used to make Ramstein are all imported directly from Bavaria.

Greg found a special brewer's yeast used only by a small brewery in Bavaria. He was able to convince the brewery to let him use the special yeast exclusively at High Point.

The unique complex character of Ramstein is a result of this private yeast and of course High Point's careful and proper brewing methods.

The name Ramstein was adapted from a town in Germany with a large American population. The town surrounds the US Ramstein Air Force Base. Ramstein beers reflect the marriage of German tradition and American innovation.
